ORAL PRESENTATION DO’S & DON'TS:

1. At the beginning of the presentation, the first presenter failed to introduce herself to her audience.

2. The first and second presenters did not have a lot of hand gesture, thus making their presentation felt a bit stiff.

3. All of the presenters did not read their notes from the slides as they were presenting their points to the audience.

4. By asking questions, the third speaker was able to engage her audience in her presentation.

5. The presenters’ body language was poor as there was limited eye contact with the audience. Therefore, the presenters should not read from the text in order to improve their body language.

6. The fourth speaker checked her notes too frequently while presenting. This could disrupt the flow of her presentation.

7. There is no turn taking in the presentation. There should be transition between speakers.

8. The presenters should not stand in front of the screen as the audience will not be able to see the slides on the screen.

9. Some of the speakers were not able to explain their points effectively because they were not well verse with their own topic.

10. The presenters do not show appropriate body language. They should not do other things that could distract the audience such as talking on the phone.
