1. Social behavior is known to be goal oriented. Give an example of ONE social behavior that is quite common in Malaysia, discuss the goals of such behavior and what factors may influence such behavior (4 marks)

2. Attribute is the process by which people use information to make inferences about causes of behavior or event. State and explain two types of attribution and give one example for each (3 marks)

3. What are the roles of first impression in intimate relationships? Discuss by giving appropriate examples. (3 marks)